

Special Education Master's and Mild Moderate Specialist Credential

 UNIVERSITY OF SAN FRANCISCO | School of Education

Program Highlights

- Paid teaching positions with Northern California public schools throughout the duration of program
- Extensive supervision and mentoring
- Close-knit cohort program
- Program pathways for candidates who are new to the profession & for those who already hold a teaching credential
- Can be combined with our Bilingual Authorization Certification

Program Delivery

- Students attend an intensive summer program, from the end of May through mid-July, to prepare for their first teaching assignments.
- Fall & spring classes are one night per week, on Wednesdays.
- Intern Teaching Seminar courses meet a few Thursdays each semester in year one & continue in year two on Wednesday evenings.

Questions? Contact
schoolofeducation@usfca.edu

Program Faculty

Dr. Kevin Oh
Department Chair
koh2@usfca.edu

Aisha Ortega
Program Coordinator
abortega@usfca.edu

Dr. Nicola A. McClung
Full-Time Faculty
namcclung@usfca.edu

USF Special Education Master's/Mild Moderate Support Needs Credential Program

Standard Tuition Cost: $ 45,570

Tuition Cost for SFUSD Employees w/
40% Discount: $27,090

Teach Grant: $7,544

Golden State Teach Grant: $20,000

Total Cost for SFUSD Employee with discount and grants: $0

Why Should You Choose USF's Special Education Program?

- Earn master's degree with credential
- Cohort model
- Strong support system
- Course sequence meets job demands
- Research to Practice Teaching emphasis
- Faculty members – each with 10+ years in the field of special education
- Culturally Responsive Teaching and Universal Design for Learning Frameworks
- Alumni network